Rolling Through the Film

DO NOT TOUCH THE FILM!

Put on Your White Cotton Gloves

Place the Film on the Rollers
Place the film on the right-hand roller so that the film is wound in a clock-wise direction and the end of the film comes off on the bottom of the spool.

Place the empty spool on the left-hand roller.

Gently tape the end of the film onto the left-hand spool so it winds on from the bottom of the spool

Rolling and Looking
Gently turn the left-hand crank so the film goes onto the spool from the bottom. You may need to jiggle the crank a bit to engage the gears.

Roll along until you find an interesting photo.

Use the hand lens to look at the photo. Put your eye right on top of the lens and hold the lens about 1/8" above the film.

Return the Film to Its Spool
Gently turn the right-hand crank to spool the film back onto its original spool.

Un-tape the film from the left-hand spool and put the film back in its plastic container. Be sure the correct container and lid are used.
